Art Association Buys Building For Gallery

Located Two Blocks Off Ocean; Will Be Remodeled and Used For Permanent Exhibitions of Peninsula Artists

And now Carmel will have another show place to which she may point with pride when visitors come, for the Carmel art association has purchased a home!

A deal was made this week by which the association becomes owner of the house on North Dolores ,the second block from Ocean on the west side, known as the Woodward studio. It contains a gallery 80x100 feet for exhibition and living apartments, which will probably be occupied by the curator, who has not yet been defintely decided upon.

Members of the association met Tuesday at the studio and decided upon the purchase. Several artists from Monterey were also present and were enthusiastic over the purchase. It is the intention that the gallery shall be used for the benefit of the entire peninsula.

Carmel has long felt the need of a gallery wherein visitors may view the work of the Carmel artists without having to go into the woods and bypaths to seek out each individual studio, and the association plans to hold permanent exhibitions and also provide a meeting place for friends.

A small payment has been made on the property and later when the Red Cross drive and the community chest drives are over those who wish to do so may make gifts to finish paying for the place.

Practically every well known artist in this section has promised a painting, these to be used as gifts for those who make generous donations. Each artist promises to give worth while pictures, valued at not less than $100.

The building will require some remodeling, since the members wish to remove the large window on the north side in order to secure the added wall space and to have a skylight put in to show the pictures to the best advantage.

Looking forward to the future when Carmel will outgrow the present building, the location may be used for a larger and more up-to-date- gallery.

There is some talk of holding a public reception when the gallery is opened to the people, which, it is hopeu, will be in a very short time.

Gardening enthusiasts have their eye on the surroundings and intend to make the yard as attractive as the gallery.

WATCH YOUR STEP; UNDER SPY SYSTEM

The whole United Sttaes is now under a huge spy system and anyone who has enemies may well watch his step. It is only necessary for anyone to report anyone else as a violator of N.R.A. Not even necessary that he come out in the open since his name will not be used without his permission.

General Hugh S. Johnson, administrator for Industrial Recovery, announces his appointment of E. Tilden Maddox as district compliance director who will receive all complaints of code violations in this district.

Blanks for complaints of violations of approved codes may be secured at the post office, from the local N.R.A. committee or compliance board.

Space is provided on the printed forms for notarization or certification by one or more witnesses familiar with the facts."

However, on th eform itself, below the space marked for notarization or witnesses is the note:

"If possible, this complaint should be sworn to before a notary or signed by at least one witness familiar with the facts."

Thus it is not mandatory that a complainant either swear to his charge or have it witnessed in order to bring examination, with its potential harmful publicity, upon some personal enemy or business competitor.

"Anonymity"

Below the line for signature of the complainant is the remark about secrecy. It simply says:

"May we use your name if necessary?"

NRA officials were asked if the answer "No" to that question would guarantee anonymity to the complainint, and replied:

"The question itself indicates that the wishes of the complainant will be respected."

Charlotte Wishart And Frederick Layton Wed

In a pretty wedding at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wishart, last Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, Miss Charlotte Wishart, eldest daughter, became the bride of Mr. Frederick A. Layton of Monterey.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Layton of Monterey, and is a graduate Pacific Grove High. For the past three years he has been employed by the Del Monte Properties company. Mr. David Allen of Monterey was best man.

The bride, lovely in a tan dress with brown accessories, was accompanied by her pretty sister, Miss Doris Wishart, as bridesmaid, becomingly attired in green. Both carried corsages of yellow roses.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of intimate friends and relatives of the families, the Rev. A. B. Chinn officiating and the father of the bride giving his daughter away.

The wedding is the culmination of a two-year courtship and therefore came as no surprise.

Immediately following the buffet supper after the wedding, the newlyweds left for a honeymoon in the southern part of the state, and upon their return they will live on Colton street in Monterey.

Both bride and groom are exceptionally popular and have hosts of friends in the three peninsula cities who wish them a long and happy married life.

Red Cross Has Received $2,000 of $3,000 Goal

Only Means of Caring For Needy This Winter. Your Donation Is Needed. Drive To Continue Until Thanksgiving

Carmel workers for the Red Cross drive report up to noon today receipt of $1,902.15, with additional pledges of $145, making a total of $2047.15 of the $3,000 goal.

Since the Red Cross will be the only organization functioning for the relief of the needy this winter, it is necessary that the goal be reached and it is hoped it will be exceeded.

The drive will continue until Thanksgiving. If you have been missed by the solicitors, please call on them and leave your subscription.

"A Red Cross reunion." That's the atmosphere pervading the nation today as thousands of volunteers enroll Red Cross members in a campaign that continues until Thanksgiving Day.

James L. Fieser, vice chairman in charge of domestic operations, in a message to A. L. Schafer, Red Cross manager in the Pacific Area, says to the people of the Pacific slope:

"The spirit of 16 regional conferences in 13 different states which I have just attended can best be illustrated by a few scattered instances in a great number which came to my notice. Five delegates drove 500 miles from Coeur d'Alene to the Idaho state regional conference at Boise. Others drove almost as far from northern California to Sacramento and from Apache county to Phoenix, Arizona. These instances of loyalty to the Red Cross were not exceptional.

"At one of the northwestern regional cnoferences a man said that he knew of nothing which so warmed his heart (during the sub-zero nights of a long winter) as he pushed his way over the snow to far off destinations as to come up to a ranch house in the window of which the Red Cross emblem shone as it was framed in the yellow glow from a kerosene lamp. It was a benediction to the lonely traveler."

Five state governors made addresses before the Red Cross gatherings. Of the five governors, three had served as the chairmen of Red Cross chapters or branches. Seven state directors of emergency relief also participated with the thousands of Red Cross delegates in the rgeional conferences. Mr. Fieser concludes:

"The Red Cross is an Army of Mercy, for God and Country. It unites people of all faiths and beliefs and is a benediction to both the participant and the beneficiary."

A new battle cry for Red Cross membership is sounded by a Louisiana volunteer who says: "Ask them all."

MONTEREY PENINSULA ORCHESTRA IS FINE

That the Monterey Peninsula orchestra is coming along especially well is the consensus of opinion of the music lovers of Carmel.

The orchestra members are very faithful in attendance and each is doing his or her part toward the perfecting of the Children's program to be given December 15.

Don't forget the open rehearsals which you may hear for the small sum of ten cents at the Denny-Watrous gallery each Sunday night.

BEAUTIFUL BUTTERFLIES COME TO PENINSULA

Millions of golden and black butterflies have come to this section of the peninsula to make their winter home (wise butterflies) and are now located in a grove in Pacific Grove.

During the daytime these butterflies roam at large but return at night to their grove.

Their coming this year is said to be earlier than is usual. They hatch their young here and in the summer time journey to the Canadian Rockies.

They evidently are not the forerunner of any sort of pest, since the gardeners of the peninsula welcome their arrival each year.

INTERESTING CARMEL

Interesting things about Carmel

Revisiting Missions Photographed in '02

L. S. Slevin, where it is possible, is revisiting the missions of California to see their state of preservation and to find out how time has dealt with them, for 31 years ago Mr. Slevin took pictures of every mission he could visit to get his pictorial history of the California Missions.

Mr. Slevin can not help but compare the ease with which he reaches them today with that of 31 years ago. Then, he had to leave his horse and buggy and, as he says, "hoof" it in a good many instances.

Mr. Slevin knows his subjects when he talks of the old missions which are California's historical land marks, the oldest having been built in San Diego in 1770.

In Santa Cruz, he found a "new" old mission, built to imitate the old but even erected on a new site.

The Santa Inez at Santa Barbara he found last week had a rebuilt bell tower, and even added arches, varying from the old architecture.

La Purisima Conception near Lompoc, in a fairly good state of preservation in 1902, is now in ruins.

One of Mr. Slevin's greatest disappointments was in the mission of Santa Margarita, branch of the mission of San Luis Obispo. The place had not only deteriorated, but almost obscuring it, is an old barn. No one in that location seemed to have any knowledge of the place, he stated.

Some of Mr. Slevin's old photographs are the first known pictures taken.

"I cannot understand," Mr. Slevin said, "why the people in the vicinities of the old missions do not realize their values as attractions to tourists. Thousands of people go each year to see those that are in repair and open to the public. Instead I often had to ask several people before I could fine anyone who could direct me to some of the sites."

Mr. Slevin is also showing a hitching weight which he ran across the other day, the first he had seen for 25 years or more. He had been looking for one for some time and accidentally located it in a store he had passed frequently the past years. The merchant had had it in stock twenty years.

SIGN OF THE PAPOOSE HAS NEW NAVAJO RUGS

Mrs. Rogers of the Sign of the Papoose is proudly displaying a new shipment of Navajo rugs in black and white and the brilliant colorings.

Some people buy a rug and look at it, simply thinking it pleasing, not realizing how much more interesting it is to know some of the history behind the making. In every rug, you will find a thread leading out at the corner to let out the evil spirits and following are some of the symbols and their meanings:

Squares—4 corners of earth. Rows of small squares—village. Zig zag line—lightning; Obtuse angle—sky; Red — fire, sun, male; Black — water, mother earth; Blue—female; Swastica—joy; Stars—guidance; Arrows—protection; Crossed arrows — friendship.

Refund On Gas Bills Ordered By Commission

With the announcement of the state railroad commission that the gas rates for this area will be lowered and that a 13 per cent refund will be made on bills paid since July, many Carmel people are planning what to do with their extra money.

The new scale which provides a 6 2-3 per cent profit, will go into effect December 15.

The sixty cent service charge was abolished. The hearings of the commission began in November, last year.

Just Anything

By Just Anybody

Just so many days until Christmas. Count it up yourself and do your own worrying.

Zipp, belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Ed Warner, is a cute little dog and he doesn't have to be coaxed either to show off his tricks. As a special favor he gets Mr. Warner's hat for him. The other day a man was visiting at the Warner home and Zipp took a liking to him, consequently he went and got the guest's hat and laid it on his knee. Imagine the family's embarassment.

The flowering eucalyptus is gorgeously in bloom here this year. It is supposed to do extremely well only every second year.

I wish you might have the opportunity as I have had of waiting in Principal O. W. Bardarson's office at Sunset School during the morning hour after the children have gathered in for the day's work. Personally I have never seen such conscientious effort on the part of a man in authority to handle each case, be it of tardiness, mischief, or what not, absolutely upon its own merits. I can't help but envy the youngsters who have this guidance and can but contrast his modes of handling the students with that of others I have known. Truly Sunset School is a great asset to Carmel, and Superintendent Bardarson is the greatest asset to Sunset School.

"Take these bones to your dog," I heard an editor say, "and it will make an intelligent dog of him to have eaten the bones left from an editor's steak." "Probably give him rabies," suggested a companion.

"Oh, well, the butter the dish, the butter the pickle," explained a Carmel husband who had "helped" his wife by placing the pickles in the butter dish.

SCHOOL NOTES

There will be a student body meeting at Sunset next Friday morning at the usual hour.

At the county institute to be held in Watsonville November 27, 28 and 29, several well known speakers will talk, among them the internationally famed journalist, Mark Sullivan, author of "Our Times." George Hjelte, superintendent of the Los Angeles Recreation department, will speak on "The New Deal in Education and Leisure." Frank A. Russell of the Melbourn, Australia, University will address the teachers on "Makers of Modern History." Mr. Russell has traveled the world over and has personally interviewed the world's outstanding figures.

There will be a meeting of the elementary school principals at Hotel Resetar in Watsonville at noon, December 28.

Plans are under way for the organization of intramural basketball next week giving to each boy who is interested in basketball an opportunity to play on a team. Players from these groups will be chosen to make up a team to represent Sunset.

THE CARMEL MISSIONARY

The November meeting of this society will be held at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 22 at the Community Church. An interesting service of thanksgiving has been arranged to be followed by tableaux illustrating the book, "Eastern Women Today and Tomorrow."

Mrs. Harry Hilbert will be the reader for the tableaux. The public is cordially invited.

Peninsula News

About fifty tons of paper were collected by the several schools on the peninsula, the proceeds from the sale of which are to go to the Community Chest.

Funeral services for Frederick Raymond Lee of New Monterey were conducted Sunday and the body taken to San Francisco Monday for interment in the National cemetery. Death was due to heart trouble.

A. L. Roman, Pacific Grove, is in the county jail, under sentence of hit-running. Roman crashed into a parked car in New Monterey and failed to stop.

Felix Sumuba was taken to the Monterey hospital where he was treated for a gash on his head. He stated he had been held up by a soldier and robbed of $6. Samuba is employed at a Monterey hotel.

Pacific Grove expects to receive such help from the federal unemployment relief program as will enable them to employ 15 men for 15 weeks. It is reported that they may clear the Pacific Grove beach north of the MacDougal pier. The cost is estimated at $3,000.

J. Nichols, Seaside, is in jail serving a 25-day sentence after pleading guilty to reckless driving. He had choice of a $50 fine or the jail sentence.

Trial of Dr. J. P. Sandholt on misdemeanor charges growing out of alleged violation of the state narcotics act, will be heard Nov. 28 t 10 a.m., before Judge Ray Baugh in Monterey.

Tom Podue and Mike Elich of San Pedro were injured when their car overturned on the Salinas highway, 12 miles from Monterey. They received spinal fracture and cuts and bruises.

A jury decided for the National Dollar Store of Monterey in a case in which Phyllis and Joseph Jeffers of Monterey asked $11,000 on account of alleged inujries received by Mrs. Jeffers when she fell in a wash room at their store.

Pacific Grove is delighted with the way taxes are being paid in that city.

Wayne Edwards, a member of the Monterey High School faculty, recently won a prize from the W. C. T. U., with an essay explaining how to teach temperance in schools.

CARRYING OF BONDS TO BRING MONEY TO STATE

If the bonds for the development of water for the valleys carry, in the December election, it will mean that not only 25,000 men will be put to work immediately but that large agricultural districts will be saved to the state.

It is to be hoped that no one will cast a vote without studying the pros and cons.

The project provides for development of water in the Sacramento Valley and rehabilitation of the fast-becoming arid San Joaquin valley, a rich tributary to Los Angeles and Southern California, without a cent of cost to the taxpayers.

Approval of the project at the December election will bring $170,000,000 of federal funds into the state and immediate employment of 25,000 persons. It is specified that security for the federal loan must be in the form of revenue bonds, paid only from funds received in the sale of water and power developed by the project.

Misunderstanding on the financial setup of the project was clarified in anonuncing that Attorney General U. S. Webb has ruled that these bonds can never become a lien upon the taxing power of the state. He also emphasized that the project extends to the entire state benefits similar to those made possible in southern California through federal aid on the Boulder Canyon and Metropolitan Aqueduct.

ARRESTED FOR PEDDLING GIVEN 30-DAY SENTENCE

Frank Soto of Seaside ignored Carmel's ordinance against peddling without a license and was brought before Judge Wood who gave the young man a sentence of 30 days in jail, suspended as long as he stays out of Carmel.

Soto had been delivering wood to the Carmel homes when he was arrested.

Fairbanks, Jr., Shown Here in "Captured"

It's tradition, in many lines of American business, that the son of the firm's head, when he is ready to go to work, should put on overalls and learn dad's business from the bottom up to the top. It really happens, even in many cases, the journey of routine affair, compressed into a few months or a couple of years, before Junior arrives at a mahogany desk in an office adjoining Senior's.

Measured by such a standard, Douglas Fairbanks Jr., should have a better and more diversified background, based upon first hand experience, than any player of stellar magnitude in motion pictures. As a matter of fact, that is just what Doug has. This rising young actor, who is rounding out another successful year in his career by playing one of the principal roles in Warner Bros. production "Captured" which is playing at the Carmel Theater on Tuesday is at home in many branches of the business where his fellow players would be quite at sea.

The son of a star though at his birth his father's motion picture career was still in the ungan breathing the atmosphere of guessed future. Young Doug. be- a motion picture studio as a boy. And a very young boy at that.

Now and then, around the studio, the simple, direct-thinking child's mind would suggest something that more sophisticated adults had entirely overlooked. Whenever such suggestions were accepted, young Doug was duly rewarded with the check. He got more kick out of those first rewards that early silent pictures dropped in his lap than from any money he has earned since.

The requirements of education carried him from Hollywood for several years—New York, London an dthen Paris. To the usual ingredients of a school curriculum he added painting and sculpture while abroad.

Being a Fairbanks, acting was indicated as his natural meter when he returned to Hollywood. The illustrious name he bore might have strewn his path with roses, or opened favored shortcuts to success if he had so desired. His absorption in becoming a sucessful actor did not, however, prevent him from making excursions in to other phases of picture making. While pictures were still silent, he practiced the obsolete art of writing titles. He titled two of the elder Doug's successes.

Doug's concentration upon mastering the technique of acting, aroused in him a new ambition—to become a playwright. Especially a screen playwright. Already he has the one story to his credit, "Scarlet Dawn" and he confesses that he would have brought several others to completion if it were not for an overwhelming streak of laziness in him that makes even his favorite pursuits a drudgery.

Warner Bros. bought and produced "Scarlet Dawn" with Douglas as its hero and Nancy Carroll as the little Russian heroine.

Those who know Doug best, however, insist that his laziness is happily offset by equally marked spurts of energy and activity. They confidently expected him to complete more than one of his half-finished stories during such periods and make an equally brilliant name for himself as actor and author.

In "Captured" which was directed by Roy Del Ruth, and which Warner Bros. regarded as one of their greatest pictures, Doug shares the leading honors with Leslie Howard in this powerful and thrilling drama of the war prison camps in Germany, based upon Sir Philip Gibbs' novel, "Fellow Prisoners."

Margaret Lindsay, the ravishing beauty of "Cavalcade" fame, Paul Lukas, Arthur Hohl, Robert Barrat, John Bleifer, Philip Faversham and Frank Reicher are important members of the cast

Several Fast Bouts At Presidio Bowl Next Wednesday

On paper at least it looks as though the coming fights next Wednesday night, November 22, at the Presidio Bowl will be the best so far offered at the Post.

The wind-up should be a pip as both men have fought Anderson and each made about the same showing. Kid Novak is the hardest puncher and Rusty Westman is the best boxer. In the semi-windup Dale Hawkins and Whitie Watkins should put up a good fight. Hawkins is the champ of the Hawaiian Islands and comes here with the reputation of a K. O. Artist. Whitie is as tough a fighter as you will find and he can take it and give it.

The special event brings together Young Lavery of the Presidio and Earl Baumgardner of Salinas. Earl has held seven titles on the coast his last being the Golden Gloves champion.

In the top preliminary, Battling Bons, the Presidio Assassin meets Leo Storm. This match should please the crowds as both men lean toward the bar room style of warfare. The Assassin hails from the Post and Storm from Salinas. Derry Berry of the Presidio and Prince Sencio should please the fans as both start their punches from any place and land them someplace. The Prince hails from the Islands and is a nephew of Aquinaldo the great Filipino outlaw.

Frank Dalton of Carmel and Jack Leeper of the Post meet in a three rounder. Dalton is a hard puncher and in his four fights he has had three men on the floor during the fights and K. O'd. one in the first round. Leeper is the best man he has met to date. He is also a hard hitter and the fight is not expected to go the limit.

Bud Naulty of the Presidio and Jose Condez meet in another three rounder. Naulty is the pride of the Presidio and the soldiers are backing with their next month's pay.

Condex hails from Mexico City and his last sixteen fights have ended in knock outs.

Hoehammer and Buster Rodney.

It is a toss up between Jimmie Hoehammer and Buster Rodney. Jimmie is from the Post and Rodney' from Pacific Grove. The fight starts at eight p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Gansel who came out from Chicago and spent a week with their daughter, Mrs. P. A. McCreery, have gone to San Francisco where they plan to make their home.
